

Applied Design Thinking in Environmental Management

Applied Design Thinking in Environmental Management

Design Thinking steps are projected to the design of environmental management systems providing added value and popularity and ownership to Environmental Management systems:

- Inspiration: environmental aspects, impacts, eco-system capacity
- Ideation: eco-system threshold, institutional and social perceptions
- Implementation: piloting environmental management system at neighborhood and area levels

